Goals of Care in the Acute Admission Ellie Curtis, MD, MPVM

Dr. Ellie Curtis is an Active Duty United States Air Force trauma surgeon, assigned at David Grant Medical Center (DGMC) located on Travis Air Force Base. She is part of an ongoing military-civilian partnership between David Grant and UC Davis Medical Center. Dr. Curtis completed her general surgery residency at UC Davis in 2017. She subsequently completed a fellowship in burns and critical care followed by a fellowship in palliative care both at Harborview Medical Center in Washington prior to returning to CA. Dr. Curtis's philosophy of care centers around the overall patient experience. Her goal is to actively engage the patient, family and community so that together they can focus on optimal short and long term outcomes. In addition to trauma surgery, Dr. Curtis has special clinical interest and expertise in Burn Surgery and Palliative Care.
