

Our speaker:

Stefanie Generao has been a nurse for nearly twenty-four years, fourteen of which she has been a nurse practitioner. Stefanie earned her master's degree from Georgetown University in the Family Nurse Practitioner Program and became one of the Trauma Nurse Practitioners at the University of California Davis Medical Center (UCDMC) in 2005.

Stefanie joined UCDMC's Vascular Center in 2015 as the center's nurse practitioner. Due to the large volume of vascular wounds she treated in her practice, she became a Certified Wound Care Nurse (CWCN), and has continued to grow within this specialty. She has a patient-centered approach that promotes patient education, family and care giver engagement and the use of community resources to ensure healing and maintain wellness.
